The system automatically allocates the ear numbers and sexes based on the number of males and females given above. If you have made a mistake with the sexes you can change them here. You must tick this box in place of a signature. Click here to send the litter to BPA. If notifying more than one litter make sure that you know the last ear no. used. These details will not appear on the website until they have been processed by the BPA office. You may want to print this screen.
If you submit the form without completing all the required fields you will get an error message.
If you fill in any of the litter weight fields you must complete all three.

If the number of notified pigs is less than the number you claim to have weaned you must give an explanation.
The system checks that the first number has not been used before.

Remember only the last two years birth notes are loaded on the website. If you have been round the clock and are using letters check your records.
If you forget to “sign” the form by ticking the confirmation box the form will not be accepted.
